Merico" is the least important object of A Kentucky correspondent of the St. Louis Hear bira:
The Government and the States of Indiana and Ohio are responding nobly to the call of Kentucky for help; and yet I must say that I think the Government keeps too many troops at Washington, while the Western live of bat-tle is neglected. Kentucky has not half enough men in the field. The Union forces is the field are less than 80,000, while the Confederate force greatly outcomber us. The Government has more than 400,000 men under arms somewhere. Such an army is able to march from the North Pole to Cape Hore, and increase in munbers and power every day it moves. It is a great mysisty to us here in Kantucky why this vast army is kept still to period and be derocalized from mactivity alone. At least 250,000 of these troops stand like so many stocks around Washington City. They have arms in their hands, and swords by their stokes, and as immense quantity their stokes, and as immense quantity of artilliery, with horses and wagons, and all the appliances of war, and yet, for all the good they are doing, they solgat as well be armed with corn-stalks and pop-grus. Indeed, the Government might as well have so many seare-crows hung upon stakes and trees around the Capital to frighten foes away. The Gov Government might as well have so many source-crows hung upon stakes and trees around the Capital to frighten fees away. The Government has been standing tremulous, at Washington, in the presence of what they supposed to be a vast army, just across the Potomac-an army too powerful to attack, as d requiring the presence, in and around Washington, of no less than a quarter million soldiers. This has been the state of the case for more than two months, when the Government picks up courage enough to drive back thereby pickets a few miles, and finds out there never have been over 60,000 rebels near Washington. Is not this a lumiliating discovery, and one which a great Government like our should never have made public? Then the facts are that the Government has been so badly soared by a few bold pickets near Washington, that Missouri has been overnment and Kentucky luvaded by the very men that the Government sup-have made the war for their proiew bold pickets near Weshington, that Mis-court has been overrun and Kentucky lavaded by the very men, that the Government sup-posed were within four miles of Washington. This is shareful, to say the least of it, and the people are getting tired of such inactivity. It is deeply humiliating that is few pickets should be allowed to overawe an army of 200000 men, for two months, while the army on that the police so established shall mally sacred. Some folks may call it "more honest policy" to pay the rebel what is taken from him, but we fail to

The Wounded at Lexington—Arrival of the Emille.

The steambott Emille, arrived last night with the men wounded at the slege of Lexington. There are just one hundred of them, a few having left on the cars from Justiceron City. The prisoners started from Lexington on the Ciara Belle, but being met by the Easilie, a considerable distance above Jefferson City, were transferred, in obedience to a government order in the hands of First Licutenant Geo. Issunstein, of Company I. I frittenth Regiment Missouri Volunteers. The Clara Belle was heavily laden, and got constantly

The same suthority also gives an account of the difficulties between McOulioch and Price. The next day after the battle, a division of the spollspanis, quarrel took place between the two Generals. McCulloch ended by telling Price that he "had been grossly denived by the Missourians, and the latter were all a set of c—d cowords; that when it came to the pixch, he (McCulloch) had to do the fighting, but when it came to the division of the plumder, they wanted it shi." When a few miles from the town, the prisoners were taken out and placed a short distance from a fite of soldiers, who were to execute the cruel orders for their destruction. They were then told that they could either ran the chances of being shot in their flight, or stand still assi be shot. Knowing the chances to be about equal in both cases, Mr. Cox covered his race with his kunds, and stood his ground. The other two attempted to escape, and one of them, the younger Davis, succeeded. The father and Mr. Cox were killed on the spot. The canes of their effence, my informatic state, was none other than they had been accused falsely, it is believed, of alding in the taking of certain goods from the store of R. W. FROM CAIRO. [Special Dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.] The gunboats Tyler and Lexington had an active engagement to-day with rebel shore batteries at Iron Banks, three miles this side of Columbus. The boots left here at 9 o'clock for down the river, on a recomposame. Arrived at Luces Bend, they got sight of the sebel gunbout Jeff. Davis, which on, chase being given, put about with all possible dispatch for Columbus. The Lexington and Canestogs, while in chase, and throwing shot, were suddenly fired upon from masked batteries on cach side of the river. The rebel shots, however, generally fell short. A battery of riled cannon on the Iron Banks threw balls over and around the gunboats, cutting close, but fortunately doing no damage. Parties on board represent the scene for a time as partieularly exciting. Shot and shell were slying about in uncomfortable proximity, making the air ring with music. The guns of our boats were admirably managed, every shot going would go to a husking or stay at home, as inclination prompts. This it is that has made the rebels swarm again—that has burnished up their old I re locks, and that has sent twenty thousand men to swell Price's ranks.

Until the present policy is reversed, and the Commander in Missouri is empowered to exercise his discretion, within the rules and regulations of civilized warfare, to meet fire with fire, to bind or set free, we have not much to hope for in the permanent pacification of the State. The time for retribution has come. Leniency has exhausted fitself without avail. The men who have been taken prisoners time and time again, and as often returned to the rebel ranks, laugh at the farce in which they are compelled to play a part. The sentiment of honor, which even the Indians respect, the obligations of loyalty and mercy, and the restraints of their oaths are all disregarded. This well-advertised body of green-coated ridemen have began on the Potomac to exhibit their skill on the rebels. Last week the enemy made demonstrations of an advance on Fort Corcora, so an order was dispatched to which Fremont has been forced to yield!

Tou can have no idea of the perfect desolation that characterizes these Missouri towns. Except for the utilitary men, and U. S. Dracosi, St. Louis seems like a constant Sunday. Jeffenson City is much worse. Small and dilapicated at best, it seems now like a perfect ruin. The heautiful Sixie House is iortified, and cannon are pointing through the breastwires that surround it. The Northwestern Rifles, Coi. Knoblesdorf, were quartered in Il when we arrived, and though they have gone, the Sensition Chumber, Representatives from, lobbies, corridors, and even the dome, have marks of barrecks. Soldiers can be seen looking like infants leaning over the guards round the dome, a hundred and fifty feet above the structs. The while tents of the soldiers are seen on every side, mixed in with lorts, barriedes, horse and mule corrallet, and rapidly riding officers and troops.

Jeffenson City is made up of hills and deep gulches and raymes. "Sheppard's Mountain" lies a mile to the west; and through the valley between them passes the road to Ironton, our present headquarters. Our camp, however, lies a mile south of the town and at the foot of the conical hill upon which we are building a fort. And from the waits of that fort I write you this letter. My system manded by its guns.

At the foot of the hill, upon which stands the fort, her the pretty village of Arcelis—almost worthy of its name. But its houses are nearly all deserted, the inhabitants having gone north or south, as their loyalty or disloyalty impelled them. It was formerly a place of sammer resort for wealthy plaaters, and a fine hotel with a hundred rooms, is like "Tara's halls, descreted." Along its chief street, and "away down South," between the hills, runs the road which furnishes the only approach for wagons in that direction. Our cannon will have their green upon it. person.

Mesers, Cheny and Barton reported that the ertillery company now being organized by them, consisting of one hundred and fifty six men, with a battery of six guns, which had been intended for the 5th regiment, was transferred by Government to this regiment. On motion, it was carried that the formal opening of the camp should take place on Monday, October 15th, but any companies or sayasis wishing to come into camp sooner can do so, it was also received that all who intend to bring in any number of men, report on Saturday, the 18th of October, and the route by which they will come. Also, that the proceedties of this meeting be furnished to the Chicago papers for publication; and that the local papers is the counties hereinbeford mentioned be requested to copy. It was also stated by Coi. Hayden, that passes on the railroads would be furnished for recruits as fast as they are ready to come into camp. On motion, the meeting adjourned.

Camp Dement is beautifully situated on an eighty acre tract of land within the city innits of Diron, on the left bank of Rock river. It is abundantly supplied with pure water and every other convenience necessary or dosirable. If has been furnished with tents, drums, files, and every other kind of camp outpage

Bay. M. Johnson, who, while moving some of Corbet & Cu.'s powder, Eriday night, was dangerously wounded by the explosion of one of the kegs.

Gen. Fremont and staff will probably leave for Sedalia to-day.

(Special to the St. Louis Republican.)

It seems to be the belief in military circles here that Price will avoid a bettle with Fremont, if possible, but others entertain the opinion that he intends a surprise upon some point the least protected, and that we shall have a fight in a few days. Fremont designs to follow the rubel army into Arkansas and ferce them to fight wherever he can encounter tham. The Haymasters, who brought one produce them to fight wherever he can encounter tham. The Haymasters, who brought one point the troops to the Sits of August, have discharged their duty and returned to St. Louis. Claib. Jacken. Is reported to be a route for lexus. The farmers of Pitts county, recently offered to furnish Gen. Fremont, gratis, two hundred and tifty thousand dollars worth of grain for his army. Capt. Champion, the rebuil who was here hast week, has been arrested as a styll in Georgetown, and is now a prisoner.

At east be propelled over common roads at the rais of the rea miles an hour with perfect eafety. It can also be need for threading and for any other farm work which it would pay to use a steam engine for. The author is an iron frame work, so arranged that it takes a firm hold of the soil, while around a wheel connected with it revolves a wire rope which draws the plow. The plow is a place of machinery so intricate that we will not attempt to describe it. Sufficient to say, that it is a sarranged that four, else or eight furrows may be mose at one operation, or the plow may be so arranged as to plow, drift and harrow all at once.

he so arranged as to plow, drill and harrow all at once.

When in operation the anchor is firstly set in the greund at one end of the field, while the steam engine stands at the other. The wire rope runs between the anchor and engine, and is attached to the plow; the rope is kept off the ground by pullies set in iron frames, which are distributed between the engine and anchor. The plow is fairly sizered, the guider takes his seat upon it and the ngine begins its work. Four or more beautiful furrows are at once cert, and without deviation the instrument keep is right on multi the enchor is reached. The may being arranged with double revers—shapes, is then of missions. I shall go from this meet-heered with the faith and the hope that we not said. About three acres were plowed over, and the experiment was pronounced perfectly satisfactory by a large number of agricultural gestlemen from this city and from other points in this vicinity. Among those presens were the following committee from the New Castle County (Del ) Agricultural Society: Charles J. Dupont E. C. Stotsen burg, Samuel Canby, J. Morion Pennock, Edward Webb and John A. Duncan. These gentlemen all seemed highly delighted with the working of the plow, and gave Mr. Eddl son a cordial invitation to exhibit its powers at Wilmington. All the other farmers and agreement and the control of t the past fifty years of the Board's existence should have its history thus set ferth, and the reminiscences of its founders and early mem-bers embodied in this permanent form. From the mature of its contents, and from the fact that it has been written by one who has been so long competed with the Board, we cannot doubt that the book will be found worthy of its theme, and will be highly periar by all the friends of the Board, and of the cause of mis-stors. ngton. AN lowa Cayalan Company.—A Cayalry company, numbering eighty-one mer, from Pt. Dodge, lows, under Capt. Stratton, passed through this yesterday morning, en route to Washington, to join Col. Harlan's Independent Cayalry Regiment, which was some time aince authorized by the War Department.

The Strame Plant.—This steamer, which has been plying between Lake Superior and Detroit during the season, took her departure from Detroit on Friday evening last for the port of Chicago, and will the remainder of this season run between this port and Collingwood.

Ecq., and others, from St. Louis, and many whose names will be announced from time to time. NEW ARMY REQUISIONS.—A new and revised edition of the Army Regulations reached file city Saturday. It embraces all matters relating to the army acted upon by the last session of Congress. It is for sale at the Military Bookstore of P. T. Sherlock, where will be found the Isrgest collection of military books in the city.

Chicago Legon.—John W. Daniels, one of the original Chicago Dragoons, under Capt. Barker, an old citizen of Chicago, is now re cratting a company for the Chicago, Legton. His headquarters are at No. 10 North Clark street. Men who join this company will be forthwith sent late camp at Cottage Grove. Pay and subsistance commences as soon as the roll is signed, and the men sworn in.

Firm.—A large double house, on Union, between Fourth and Indians streets, was partially burned on Saturday light. The house was unsecupled and had been entered by unknown persons and fired, as was evident from the fact that the laths and plasfering had been torn away from a portion of one of the walls and inflammable matter sprinkled freely between the floor sills.

TAYLON'S LIGHT ARTHLERRY.—Lieut, I. W. Hart, of Capt. Taylor's Chicago Light Artillery, Company B, has opened an office at 43 Wabash Avenue, for the purpose of recruiting twelve additional men for that company, now located at Sind's Potot. Uniforms and equipments for these recruits are all ready, and they can be placed in service without a moment's delay. Capt. Taylor's company is so well known in cur city that any commentation of located at Bird's Point. Uniforms and equipments for these recruits are all ready, and they can be placed in service without a moment's delay. Capt. The funeral of Mr. Sawtell will take place this morning, at 10 o'clock, from the residence of D. S. Wentworth, 470 West Jackson street. Members of Capt. Smith's Company in town, and citizens generally are invited to sitend.

27 The numerous friends of Capt. A. C. Duest, late commanding Company A, 12th Regiment Illinois volunteers, now stationed at Paducah and Smithland, Kentucky, will be pleased to hear that he was recently elected Major of his regiment for the three years' service. Major Duest held the office of Adjutant during the three months' service, was promoted to Captain Angust 1st. From our long acquaintance with the gallant Major, we hall expect to hear of his premotion to a still higher position.

Bunglany.—The residence of Dr. W. W. Allpot, No. 39 Washington street, was entered by burglars on Sunday night and robbed of two overscoats and a gold headed case. The Value of Adventising.—A gentleman of this city having a house to rent, advertised the same in yesterday morning a Thurnus, and before the o'clock of the same morning, cohiem applicants had called at this office to secure the house. The incident carries its moral to the business public.

In the same connection it may be stated that there is a most remarkable influx of strangers to our city at present, and that tenants were never so plentiful before. This fact speaks volumes for the prosperity and business success of our city.

Seat of War. Few regiments have ever connemenced under such promising suspices and advantages.

It is not yet decided what arms the regiment will receive, but exertions are making to have it raned with the Enfeld of Minie rifle. In addition to all these advantages the regiment will possess, one other, which in fact is best of all, and the most essential, and that is, that they will have maskets put into their hands at once. Col. Tucker, commandant at the camp, has already made a requisition for two thousand condemned maskets for drilling purposes, and every soldier will be thoroughly drilled in the manual of arms and the bayon at exercise before leaving the camp. No other regiment that has left Chicago, except the 19th, had an hour's drill in either before heaving for the war. Thus this regiment will be a regiment of soldiers when the marching orders are received.

By reference to the exports of Breastoffs to Europe from this country during the past twelve months, we find that of wheat, and to the Continent, 142,190 This, however, was entirely due to the immense crops of 1860. Usually our surplus does not exceed twelve to fifteen million bushels of wheat; and unless prices rule exceedingly high, there is not much processed at present of the state of t rule exceedingly high, there is not much prospect at present of even that amount being drawn from this country. It is probable, however, that our vast resources in corn will be drawn upon to a large extent to supply the deficiency in France and Germany—and that owing to the high price of wheat, its consumption will be less in England, and that of corn greater. It is fortunate for Europe, therefore, that although the supply of wheat is cut short, we will be able to supply it with corn at a reasonable price.
